STATE TAXES FOR PUBLIC SCHOOLS

Bill to Increase Them Seven Cents.

So As to Make Them Twenty-Five Cents On Hundred Dollar Valuation—Bond Issue Bill Reported Favorably—Battle Municipal Bill Hung Up—Bill to Elect Boards of Education by the People Introduced.

Raleigh, Feb. 11.—In the legislature today a number of bills of general interest came up, the principal legislation being given below:

The House.

The House convened at 10 o'clock, Speaker Dowd in the chair. Prayer by Rev. A. J. Moncrief, of the Baptist Tabernacle.

A number of bills were reported unfavorably from committees including: Allow counties to issue road bonds; require union labels on public printing; prohibit the purchase and sale of revolvers except to officers. A great number of bills received favorable report and took their places on the House calendar.

Bills Introduced.

Kellum: Joint resolution relative to the sale of the Atlantic and Yadkin Railroad.

Marshall: Allow all Confederate soldiers $5 per month pensions.

The Battle Municipal Bill Hung Up.

The Battle bill to authorize cities and towns to change their charters at will subject to certain conditions so commission or other form of government can be adopted without special legislative enactment came up for final roll call, passage from the second reading yesterday. Mr. Quicke expressed doubt of the authority of the Legislature to delegate so much authority. The general expression of members was that the bill is within the authority of the Legislature, but Mr. Battle consented for the bill to go over to Monday for final passage although insistence was expressed by a number that there should be no further delay.

The Doughton bill authorizing an issue of $50,000 to take care of state bonds falling due in 1913 and for the $350,000 deficit in the state treasury came up and was passed on second reading by roll-call, the vote being 82 for and one against the bill. The opposition was Crumpler of Sampson. The bill took its place on the calendar for final reading Monday, only one roll call a day being allowed on such a bill, under the constitution. Mr. Doughton explained that the bill provides for the present deficit by empowering the state treasurer to issue short term notes for the $349,000 deficit. There was considerable discussion as to the constitutionality of such a provision but the best authorities pronounced it easily within the right of the Legislature.

Passed Final Reading.

Provide prosecuting attorney for recorder's court in Reidsville.

Joint resolution allowing Mrs. J. L. Stewart, widow of Representative Stewart, deceased, of Montgomery county, his pay and per diem of $240.

Provide proper registration of all employees and of the departments and institutions of the state. (On being read there was objection to this and it went back on the calendar.)

Representative Marshall, of Surry, introduced out of order, a bill to elect all county boards of education by the people.

The Senate.

President Pro Tem Pharr convened the Senate at 11 o'clock, Rev. L. S. Massey, of the Christian Advocate, making the invocation.

New Bills.

Pharr, of Mecklenburg: Incorporate the Industrial Reform and Manual Training School For Colored Youth; also amend section 4738 of the Revisal relative to insurance, allowing mutual fire insurance companies to be formed by parties engaged in the same kind of business with twenty-five risks.

Sikes, of Wake: Increase the state taxes for public schools from 18 cents to 25 cents on the $100 worth of property; also relative to dead bodies for medical schools.

Special Order For Building Bill.

The Boyden-Horne bill appointing a state building commission and authorizing a $1,000,000 bond issue, to build a state administration building in Raleigh, was reported favorably by the joint committee on appropriations and made a special order for next Wednesday at 12 o'clock.

The Senate passed a joint resolution protesting against abolishing the United States mint at Charlotte and it was ordered enrolled. A copy of the resolution is to be placed in the hands of North Carolina's representatives and senators in Congress.

Unfavorable reports were made on the bills to protect and safeguard human life against deadly weapons; relating to owners of automobiles in New Hanover county paying a license tax; prevent trespass on steam railroad tracks, and relative to the duties of sheriffs.

The joint committees on public roads reported favorably a substitute for the Boyden and Sikes state highway commission bills and 1,000 copies were ordered printed.

Action was deferred on the bills concerning undertakings by defendants in claims and delivery proceedings; increase the salary of the adjutant general from $1,600 to $2,000; establish farm-life schools in the state; provide for registration of plats and sub-divisions, and authorize married women to contract as if unmarried. Also on the resolution of appreciation of the late Judge David Schenck and Jam. Jos. M. Morehead.

RELIGIOUS LIFE AT THE NORMAL COLLEGE

Students Find Plenty of Time For Worship and Great Work Is Being Done Along Religious Lines.

The following from the Sanford Express, written by a "Lee County Girl," regarding religious life at the Normal College will be of interest to many Greensboro people:

As one girl puts it, "Because we are not lined up and marched two by two to church, we are almost considered heathen, certainly not church-going people."

But every girl in the State Normal College is allowed the privilege of attending any church she may desire on every Sunday morning.

The Young Women's Christian Association of the college is a most active and efficient Christian organization and it is impossible to estimate the great help it is to the students. It is organized with strong Christian leaders at its head, and also as chairmen of all committees. As a result of the work done by the committees we find that only nineteen girls in the dormitories last year were not members of the association. A very small number in such a large student body, especially when we remember that some students were Hebrews and Catholics.

The Bible study committee has arranged for fourteen Bible classes to be taught by members of the faculty or some of the girls. Then the missionary committee endeavors to inform every student in college on the subject of missions. This committee also arranges to have visits and lectures from returned missionaries and live missionaries in the home land. During the past week we have had three lectures and illustrative views by Mr. Cameron Johnson, a returned missionary from the Orient. As a result of the work done by this branch of the association the college has twelve missionaries in the foreign field and three are now ready to go, with eight volunteers in the student body.

Every Sunday evening we have services led by some visiting ministers, by some of the ministers down town, or perhaps by some member of the faculty.

Wednesday evening the Y. W. C. A. has charge of the prayer meeting and all attend. The Freshmen, Sophomore, Junior and Senior classes hold their prayer meetings on Monday, Tuesday and Thursday evenings. The leader is always one of the class members. The association sent delegates to the following conferences. Council of the Eastern Carolina colleges, three delegates; convention at Asheville, eleven delegates; convention at Piedmont, six delegates; Rochester convention, four students and two faculty representatives.

It will be seen that the Normal girls finds time for religious worship and are in sympathy with all Christian work and endeavor. While denominationalism is not taught, "she is debtor both to the Greek and the Gentile," and is trained to practice in the church of her choice the grand old creed of charity, brotherly love, service and personal responsibility.

BUSY DAY FOR WOMAN'S CLUB

Four Different Meetings Held Yesterday.

Proposed Program For Civic Day Discussed—Club Accepts Invitation of Charlotte's Woman's Club to Meet With That Organization On March 2—Literature Department Celebrates Birthday of Its Secretary.

Yesterday was a busy day for the Woman's Club, four different meetings having been held at the Carnegie library to discuss as many different subjects.

At 2:30 o'clock members of the civic department, Mrs. C. D. McIver, presiding, went over the proposed program for Civic Day exercises, March 10, when the department will have as its guest, Mr. J. Horace McFarland, president of the National Civic Association, whose splendid collection of stereopticon pictures in connection with his delightfully entertaining descriptions and explanations cannot fail to enthuse and inspire with renewed civic zeal all who hear him, old and young alike and people of all conditions in life. Besides the distinguished visitor there will be other interesting features for this day, full of significance and one which it is the purpose of the department, to make one to look back to as a starting point for many new achievements.

At 3 o'clock the general club was called to order by the president, Mrs. G. W. Whitsett, this meeting having been called to take official action on the invitation extended by the Woman's Club of Charlotte to be with them on their Reciprocity day, March 2. By a unanimous vote the secretary was instructed to write a note of acceptance, promising to report later as to the number who would probably go. Of those present fifteen expressed a desire to be counted in when making up the party, and those not in attendance yesterday are requested to report to the secretary within the next week if they wish to go on this trip. The occasion promises to be a most delightful one and all who can show their appreciation by accepting the hospitality of the sister club.

Following the adjournment of the general club, the executive committee held a business session lasting until the hour for the literature department, this being the day for the regular monthly meeting.

Before beginning the program, the chairman, Mrs. C. W. Tenney, announced that, it being the birthday of the department secretary, Mrs. J. L. Brockmann, it was in order to celebrate, a prepared a short recess for social conversation. To add to the enjoyment and to stimulate the "flow of soul," delicious home made candies, such as to command the admiration of the household economics, were temptingly served, Mrs. Tenny receiving many compliments on her culinary accomplishments.

The Bible study committee has arranged for fourteen Bible classes to be taught by members of the faculty or some of the girls. Then the missionary committee endeavors to inform every student in college on the subject of missions. This committee also arranges to have visits and lectures from returned missionaries and live missionaries in the home land. CHARTER FOR NEW RAILROAD

From Winston-Salem to Raleigh.

Will Run Via Way of High Point and Greensboro — Charter Being Drawn by Mr. W. L. Spoon and Will Be Introduced Tuesday—Would Open Much Undeveloped Territory—Greensboro People Interested In Proposed Road.

On Tuesday there will be introduced in the Legislature a bill granting a charter for a railroad running from Raleigh to Winston-Salem, via way of Greensboro and High Point, connecting with the Norfolk & Southern at Raleigh and with the Southbound and Norfolk & Western at Winston-Salem.

As soon as the charter is granted those behind the movement will at once organize a company and have the preliminary survey made and rights of way secured. The work will be under the direction of Mr. W. L. Spoon, state highway engineer, who has the matter in charge. The incorporators will be Greensboro, Winston-Salem and Raleigh business men.

The proposed route will be ten miles nearer to Raleigh than the Southern route and after leaving Burlington will not touch within fifteen miles of the Southern line, thus opening up a vast territory heretofore undeveloped on account of railroad facilities. The section, as a whole, is heavily timbered, the wood being of the most valuable kind for making furniture. The new road would not interfere in the least with the Southern as it would draw from territory that the Southerners cannot reach. The distance from Raleigh to Greensboro by the new route would be about 70 miles.

For some time Messrs. C. H. Ireland, C. H. McKnight and John J. Phoenix, a committee from the Chamber of Commerce, have been investigating the proposed road and feel that this is the best and easiest way to get a new railroad into Greensboro. The road would cost approximately $10,000 per mile, or little more than a million dollars.

It is quite likely that a charter will also be secured for the proposed road running from Greensboro to Roxboro as this line would open up an undeveloped section of the country and give Greensboro connection with the Seaboard Air Line and a direct route to Norfolk. Mr. V. C. McAdoo, who has been discussing the matter with a number of citizens relative to calling a mass meeting for the purpose of ascertaining how the people feel regarding the proposed road, and other interested parties, are considering the advisability of securing a charter before holding the mass meeting and this will probably be the course pursued.

If the two roads can be built it will give Greensboro direct connection with the Norfolk & Southern, which traverses the eastern part of the state and also runs directly into Norfolk, and also with the Norfolk & Western, which goes into the coal fields of West Virginia. The other road would give direct connection over the S. A. L. to Norfolk.

In this manner Greensboro could get relief from the freight rate discrimination to which she is at present subjected.

BUHMAN—FAISON

Popular Couple United In Marriage Yesterday At Turkey.

A telegram received yesterday brought news of the marriage of Mr. Walter Buhman and Miss Betty Faison, two well known and popular young people.

The ceremony took place at noon yesterday at Turkey, Sampson county, the home of the bride's father, Mr. F. J. Faison, a former resident of this city.

The intention of the couple to be married yesterday was kept carefully guarded but close friends have known for some time that the happy event was to be consummated. Mr. and Mrs. Buhman are expected today, either on the early train this morning or on the noon train from the east.

Mr. Buhman has been for a number of years a valued employee at Gardner's drug store and is greatly liked. His bride is a popular graded school teacher and a most attractive young woman.

A shady transaction is one in which somebody gets a shade the better of it.

BALTIMORE MEN STILL TALKING

Told All Their Friends of the Sights They Saw In Greensboro.

Mr. E. C. Deal, who returned yesterday morning from Baltimore, stated that one of the chief topics of conversation among the Baltimore financiers, outside of business, was regarding the industrial activity in and around Greensboro. Mr. Deal learned that the nineteen financiers who spent a day here week before last after returning home spoke to their business associates of the magnificent section they visited and of the hearty welcome they had received. In fact those who did not come down had learned nearly as much about Greensboro, as far as word picture could impart information, as those who really came.

Quite a number who visited Greensboro announced their intention of returning for a more prolonged stay and others were anxious to get a "day off" and "take in Greensboro." Mr. Deal stated that when the Baltimore business men learned that he was from Greensboro they did their best to treat him as the party were treated here. While he was there Mr. O. C. Wysong sent to each of the gentlemen who were in Greensboro a small block of wood with a square hole in it and they seemed to regard this as a wonderful achievement, carrying it around in their pockets to show the curiosity to their friends. In fact, Mr. Deal stated, Greensboro never had so much advertising at such small cost as she is now receiving in Baltimore.

MAJOR STEDMAN WILL INTRODUCE WENDLING.

Lecture on "Stonewall Jackson" Monday Evening Will No Doubt Be Greatly Enjoyed.

The directors of the Greensboro Lyceum Course were greatly pleased yesterday afternoon when Maj. Chas. M. Stedman consented to introduce George K. Wendling, the noted lecturer tomorrow evening. As Wendling's lecture is to be on "Stonewall Jackson" it is most appropriate that he will be presented to a Greensboro audience by a Confederate soldier and one who was personally acquainted with that great leader of the Confederate forces.

The lecture will begin at 8 o'clock in the annex of West Market Street M. E. church and from present indications the building will not hold the audience that will be present. However, the committee on arrangements will arrange to have every available bit of space ready for occupancy in anticipation of a crowded house.

Recently Mr. Wendling gave eight lectures in Richmond and on the night of the last lecture a large hall was secured and more than a thousand seats sold. Recently when Mr. Wendling lectured in Detroit, Mich., the Detroit Free Press said: "And exceedingly able presentation, worthy its author's reputation, and an admirable example of close reasoning, apt illustration, beautiful and brilliant metaphor, thrilling eloquence, and lofty thought."

THE EUTERPE CLUB

The Program Yesterday In Charge of Mrs. Black and Miss Mary Swain.

The Euterpe Club met yesterday afternoon in Miss Woodall's studio.

This club is doing much to elevate the standard of music in Greensboro and the members fully deserve their success as the recitals involve much labor and careful planning. They enjoy the distinction of being the oldest Woman's club in Greensboro.

The club has been studying German music this year, and the next five meetings will be devoted to the life of Wagner and his greatest operas.

The program yesterday was in charge of Mrs. J. R. Black and Miss Mary Swain, both of whom read instructive papers on the life of the noted composer. These papers were made doubly interesting by a number of pictures including his home, the famous opera house at Bayreuth and portraits of himself and family. Mrs. Van Noppen interpreted in very brilliant manner Sigmund's Love Song and Mrs. Black sang Dreams, from Tristan and Isolde, with a charm that won the appreciation of her audience.

WASHING WITHOUT WATERIs Like Trying to Get Rid of Dandruff Without Herpicide.

Did you ever see any one trying to wash themselves without soap or water?

If you did what would you say of him?

It is every bit as foolish to try to get rid of Dandruff and to prevent Baldness by feeding the germs which cause it, with Cantharides, Vaseline, Glycerine and similar substances which form the principal ingredients of most so-called Hair Vigors.

Newport's Herpicide is successful because it attacks and kills the parasitic germs which feeds on the hair roots.

PNEUMONIA FOLLOWS A COLD.
But never follows the use of Foley's Honey and Tar, which checks the cough and expels the cold. M. Stockwell, Hannibal, Mo., says: "It beats all the remedies I ever used. I contracted a bad cold and cough and was threatened with pneumonia. One bottle of Foley's Honey and Tar completely cured me." No opiates, just a reliable household medicine. Howard Gardner.

Tearing a Proverb to Tatters.

One of our correspondents, to whom so far as we can remember we never did any injury, sends us the following:

Carlyle said that genius is an infinite capacity for taking pains. We venture to think this definition appropriate to a clerk.

But in a doctor genius is an infinite capacity for slaking pains.

In a commercial traveler, for taking trains.

In a literary man, for raking brains.

In a sanitary engineer, for making drains.

And in a Don Juan, forsaking Janes.

Oscar Wilde's emendation of the proverb was at once briefer and more obvious. "Genius," he said, "is an infinite incapacity for taking pains."—London News.

HATS OFF IN OKLAHOMA.

Common Politeness Carried to a Rousing Success in Baby State.
Harper's Weekly.

Let a woman enter a public building of any description in Oklahoma and, whether there be 1 or 20 men in the elevator, every man removes his hat and remains uncovered while she remains there.

The woman does not need to be young or beautiful or even fairly well dressed. Whether she is dressed in the latest fashion or wears one of the impossible Oklahoma "creations" in the millinery line makes no difference to the "hats off" regulation. It is only necessary that she be a woman, and off comes every hat of every man in the elevator, or "lift," as the native Oklahoman likes best to call it.

So universal is the custom that even the small urchin of the street—the newsies and messenger boys—together with the roughest types of manhood, instinctively remove their hats in the presence of women.

To an Eastern woman, accustomed to the hurry and bustle of the metropolis, where men do not often take time to be even decently courteous, the "hats off" rule is sometimes embarrassing, particularly when she happens to be the only woman in a crowd of many men, as is often the case.

The patrons of the hotel elevators, of course, observe the rule, but no more so than do the humblest of the humble "lift" of the humblest building in the State. One instance occurred of a colored man, evidently new to Oklahoma and too frightened in the presence of many well-dressed men to realize that he was riding in the elevator of the most prominent hotel of the Southwest remaining with his head covered while the white men held their hats in their hands. There was but one woman in the elevator, and there were probably 25 men. The colored man did not need to remove his hat; he had ridden but a few feet when a white man knocked it off for him. No words were spoken, and the incident passed without comment; but the Eastern woman, the innocent cause of the "near-riot," was undoubtedly more embarrassed than was the offending son of Ham.

Senators Root and Depew are greatly more grieved because a certain class of negroes are disfranchised than are the intelligent Southern negroes themselves.

President Taft is traveling in the interest of his proposed trade agreement with Canada. At Columbus, Ohio, he told the people that farmers, manufacturers, railroad companies, and others would be benefited by the agreement, and that, indeed, the entire country would gain by it. But no sort of a trade agreement will be likely to benefit every class. Some will gain, others will lose; and no one knows just what the net result will be until the matter is put to an actual test.

AN UNWISE ATTACK ON THE SOUTH.

Senator Root, of New York, in a warm speech made Friday on the floor of the United States Senate in connection with the proposed election of United States Senators by the people could not restrain his dislike for Southern methods, declaring that from time to time "things happen" in the South that should not be overlooked. He was asked by Senator Bacon, of Georgia, to mention some of the "things" that "happen" in the South to which he objected. In response Mr. Root said that he had reference to peonage, lynchings, and the disfranchising of citizens who happened to be black. There was great provocation here for a discussion that might have caused a revival of much sectional feeling, but it is to the everlasting credit of the Southern members that they tempered their arguments and kept their heads cool. Senator Bacon very wisely found satisfaction in confining his remaining remarks to a calm discussion of affairs in the South as they really exist in contradistinction to what they are reputed to be by a few men who are not informed and who are manifestly unfriendly to this section.

Everybody knows that these delicate subjects of lynching, peonage, and disfranchisement were brought into the controversy as a means of defeating the passage of the amendment bill for the popular election of Senators, and the Democratic Senators are not caring whether the bill passes at this session, because they know that in the event of a present adverse vote there is a time coming when the measure will undoubtedly be passed without serious opposition.

MARRIAGE AND DIVORCE.

A bill has been introduced in the State Legislature to amend the divorce laws, making it possible to obtain a divorce after a separation of five years, instead of ten, as is now the law. The law should stand as it is; but are we not more careful to prevent the separation of unhappy husbands and wives than we are in obstructing the way to foolish, unwise, and unnatural marriages? "What God has joined together let no man put asunder" is a divine law too difficult of application in modern cases. Our marriage laws are too accommodating; the ceremony is regarded with too much levity; and there is too often a lack of pre-nuptial investigation, good judgment and righteous intent on the part of some of our magistrates and even some ministers. And since this is so, consideration might well be given, before the celebration of the rite, to a simple rule, Whatever nature and parental authority and love have decreed asunder, let no man join together.

During a period of twenty years prior to 1906 there was one marriage dissolved by divorce for every 15.6 native marriages celebrated. Now the ratio is 1 to 12. If the present rate continues, in 50 years one out of every three marriages will be dissolved by a decree of court. This is appalling; and to make a comparison which is particularly odious, America furnishes the divorce mills with far more toll than does any other so-called Christian country in the world.

We prescribe no law, but it is high time for our lawmakers to look carefully and seriously into the causes of this curse which is blighting our good name and destroying the sacred institution of home, upon which is built the very superstructure of our civilization.

THE WONDERFUL 606.

New Remedy For Malaria Shows Results Where Others Fail.

Panama dispatch in N. Y. Herald.

Considerable interest has been aroused in medical circles regarding a successful experiment of applying the new prescription "606," in the case of chronic malaria which has resisted the action of quinine in an advanced stage of the illness.

Referring thereto the Star-Herald says that some time ago a young man from Darien was taken to the Santo Tomas Hospital suffering from acute chronic malaria, having been a victim of intermitting fevers for 12 years. His system was undeveloped and anaemic with a tumid abdomen, owing to an enlargement of the spleen.

The fever resisted the action of quinine and the patient failed to respond to any other kind of treatment. Physicians decided to try the effect of "606" in order to find out if the germicidal action would be effective against the malaria parasite.

One week ago Dr. Boyd applied the new prescription and three days later the fever subsided, the spleen diminished in size and the tumid abdomen became less painful.

New York and the Surf.

Few New Yorkers ever stop to think that one of that city's chief attractions is the surf. Philadelphians must go fifty-six miles to the ocean. Though the folk of Baltimore and Washington live on tidewater, they must travel for surf bathing to the capes. Boston is the only other large town on the Atlantic seaboard besides New York that has the ocean at its back door. San Francisco and Los Angeles are the only Pacific coast cities within trolley ride of ocean beach. None of the Mexican gulf cities can be compared to New York as a seaside resort, and as to New Orleans, another Mecca of the pleasure seekers, that lies more than 100 miles above the mouth of the Mississippi. But, including Coney Island and Rockaway, a good many miles of Greater New York are bounded by the ocean. This fact, just to consider the money making side of it, means an enormous revenue to the metropolis from the inland parts of the country. It is an advantage other great world centers, such as London, Paris and Berlin, do not enjoy.—Argonaut.

The Short Step Between.

"I was on an ocean liner when she ran on the rocks off the English coast some years ago," said a traveling man, "and in the panic that ensued there is one incident that stands out in my memory, illustrating the slender thread between the tragic and the ridiculous. We had fellow on board who had managed to keep pretty well loaded all the way across, and when we struck the rocks he was in his usual condition. When everybody thought for sure we were going to the bottom he sat down at the piano in the saloon, and what do you suppose he began playing? 'Home, Sweet Home.' Somebody went to him and begged him to stop. Immediately he switched off from the doleful strains of the old song to the rollicking melody of 'Down Went McGinty.' The absurdity of the thing seemed to strike everybody at once, and a general laugh followed. The tension was relieved, and there was good order after that."

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dread disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Cataarrh. Hall's Cataarrh Cure is the only positive cure known to the medical fraternity. Cataarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Cataarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

The Poor English Landlord.
I have been a property owner for nearly forty years and during that period have lost from depreciation £25,000, from empty houses £10,000, and from defaulting tenants over £5,000, or a total loss of over £40,000. During this forty years I have never known a defaulting tenant honest enough to pay a shilling off the arrears when once he removed from the neighborhood.—Letter in London Telegraph.

Industrious.

"So your club is going to give a lecture tonight?" said the tall suffragette. "What will be the topic?"

"Home industries," responded the president.

"And what do you consider home industries?"

VIOLIN CONCERT BY MAUD POWELL

Noted Violinist to Appear At West Market Annex On February 26—What Critics Say of Miss Powell.

Maud Powell, the violinist, is announced for a concert at the West Market church annex on the evening of Tuesday, February 28.

Maud Powell is an American, conceded to be the first woman violinist of the world and the greatest instrumentalist this country has produced. And just because Madame Powell is an American, musical critics delight in comparing her with the great violin masters of the world.

Recently Madame Powell has been playing in California and a writer of the Los Angeles Times makes an interesting contribution to the discussion of the American artist's standing. He says:

"Henry T. Finch is credited with saying that Maud Powell is the first woman violinist of the world. The writer would go beyond that statement, and assert that in delightful artistry and really convincing interpretation, Maud Powell is the equal of any player alive, regardless of sex."

"This statement is made in full consideration of those two marvels Fritz Kreisler and Mischa Elman. She reaches the heart with more unvarying certainty than either of these two players. And that is the test of a great violinist, as it is in the test of any great artist."

"Kreisler is the sort of man to give you one colossal interpretation—his Bach Chaconne, for instance, which he plays like a veritable Apollo—and then an uninteresting bewilderment of technical stuff, such as, alas, made up the major part of his last program here. Elman's tone enthrals to such an extent that sometimes you forget his immature renditions—translations that will not compare with Powell's."

"So there you have the three: Kreisler, who once in a while comes through with something which absolutely no other could produce; Elman, with his sublime voice and immaturity, and Powell, who, in general effectiveness, equals either of them, bringing mind as well as sentiment to bear upon her bow translations, and throwing around the compositions of all schools the wonderful lustre of combined emotion and brain."

"Madame Powell will be assisted by Waldemar Liachowsky, the Russian pianist.

The concert will be under the auspices of Mrs. S. L. Alderman's Philathea class of West Market Street Sunday school.

CARNIVAL AT G. F. C.

Enjoyable Event Last Night by Irving Literary Society For Carpet Fund.

The Irving Literary Society of Greensboro Female College gave a carnival last evening in the college auditorium for the benefit of the society carpet fund. The proceeds, which were most satisfactory, will be used in purchasing a carpet for the society hall floor. The event was largely attended, the following invitations having been sent out a few days ago:

"Under the auspices of the Irving Literary Society of Greensboro Female College there will be a carnival Saturday evening, February the eleventh, nineteen hundred and eleven. You are most cordially invited to attend. All of the attractions of the day. Most up-to-date show on record."

The young ladies had arranged booths of all descriptions, usually found at carnivals and a young lady, uniquely costumed, presided over each booth at which refreshments, etc., were sold. Miss Eleanor Elbea won the prize, a five pound bovin of Huyler's, for being most attractively costumed. She represented "Little Bo Peep."

The affair was greatly enjoyed by all present.

Class In English Literature.

A competent teacher has been secured and the class will be free to all members of the association. It will be either an evening or an afternoon class, according to the demand. All who are interested are asked to send in their names to the association office by Thursday, Feb. 16, in order that the hours for the course may be arranged to suit the applicants.

The chamber will probably move Monday.

Yorkshire Men's Fingers.

A Yorkshire man and a Lancashire man were conversing together the other day. The Lancashire man said to the Yorkshire man, "Well, Bill, do you know the best way to find a Yorkshire man's lost fingers?"

"No," says Bill.

"Well, I will tell you what happened at our place the other day. Yorkshire Dan had two of his fingers cut off with a steam saw, and they got lost among the sawdust, and two of my mates were down on their hands and knees looking for them when the foreman came up and asked what they were doing. One of them said:

"We are looking for Dan's fingers."

"Oh, come out of the road," said the foreman. "That's not the way to find a Yorkshire man's fingers," at the same time taking a shilling out of his pocket and throwing it among the sawdust, when the two fingers at once popped up after it.

"There!" said the foreman. "That's the way to find a Yorkshire man's lost fingers."—Pearson's.

Providing For His Guests.

Two men stopped at the store of a haberdasher who displayed in his showcase a job lot of collars at 5 cents apiece. One of them bought two dozen, in sizes ranging from 15 to 17½. His friend politely controlled his surprise at discovering that the broker wore five cent collars and inquired only about the elastic neck. The purchaser said:

"We live in the suburbs. Friends who visit us and remain overnight unexpectedly want clean collars the next morning. It depletes my own stock too far to keep furnishing these. I can't always supply a comfortable size either. Of course the collars never come back. Since I discovered the scheme of five cent collars I can pick up anybody, take him home with me and inform him that he need not bring any luggage, because one of my wife's beneficences includes five cent toothbrushes for the wayfarer."—New York Sun.

A Martyr to Art.

"Which tooth?" inquired the man of forceps grimly.

"Any one you like," responded the victim calmly, "so long as it's a front one."

"But—" began the astounded dentist.

"Hurry up!" thundered the visitor. With bleeding heart the operator hitched his forceps on to a bit of absolutely sound ivory, dragged his patient three times around the room and—

"Hey, presto!" smiled the dentist. "It's out! But will you be so good as to tell me why on earth you wanted a sound tooth extracted?"

"By all means," responded the patient. "You thee, I'm an actor, and I have to take a part where the thespian lithpht. At first I couldn't matter it, but now I'm there it'll be a thimply threameing thuctheth!"

The Ever Active Brain.

The question, "Does the brain ever rest?" would seem to be answerable only in the negative. Unconscious cerebration appears to be a necessary concomitant of the powers of intellect, and during sleep, whether we remember it or not, we are always dreaming.

Of course, during waking time we are perpetually thinking, thinking—thinking—not always logically and deliberately, but, all the same, thinking. Dream is the thought of the sleep time, when reason is out of the game, and the fancy, or imagination, has the reins, with nothing to hold her back. We take many a trip under her guidance that we are unable to recall when she has resigned the reins into the hands of reason. Awake or asleep, we are always busy. The mind never rests.—New York American.

The Turkish Soldier's Fatality.

The lethargy of mind which is the mental habit of the Turkish soldier—the personal expression of fatalism—is a most valuable quality in its way, for it means that its possessor is always cool and collected, grumbles little and has marvelous endurance. It is alien to all forms of panic, just as it is alien to a conspicuous elan. If the Turkish soldier never goes very fast, he never goes very slow. Except by the best trained or most dashing troops he is bad to beat.—London Spectator.

We have in stock several dozen pairs of men's and women's shoes that are solid and all right but for some reason or other are "slow sellers." Now, we haven't got any room in this store for slow sellers and have marked these shoes so low that they are going to "move on" at a lively rate. Ask to see them next time you come in. Maybe you will find just what you need, and if so you can save from fifty cents to a dollar on a pair.

In a few weeks you will be wanting slippers for your little girls. They are sure to want a pair as soon as it turns warm, and here's where you can save money again. We carried over about fifty pairs from last season and are going to close these out cheap if possible before the new stock comes in. There are also three or four dozen pairs of women's slippers from last season to go at very much reduced prices. The cut price sale of girls' shoes is still going on, and we still have nearly all sizes, but they are going fast now.

Girls, girls, girls. We still have too many girls' shoes in stock and they must go at some price. We offer one lot, good shoes carried over from last season, at only 95 cents a pair, sizes in this lot 12 1-2 to 1 1-2. Another lot, all sizes from 11 1-2 to 2, sold at $1.75 and $2.00, marked down to $1.25. This is an opportunity to get good shoes for your girls way under regular prices. Don't wait, the best bargains will go first. Thacker & Brockmann.

A PRIME FACTOR IN BUSINESS

Business men find a banking account absolutely necessary to the proper transaction of their business accounts.

Besides affording the greatest convenience, and assuring the dispatch in the transfers of moneys, accounts paid by checks, insures the payer against any possible loss or wrong payment, and when canceled, is the best receipt to be had. But in addition to the necessity of a bank account, there are many ways in which association with a strong bank can further the interests of any business.

TUBERCULOSIS CURABLE AND PREVENTABLE

(Address by Dr. J. E. Brooks, superintendent of the North Carolina Sanatorium for the Treatment of Tuberculosis, delivered in Raleigh before the Anti-Tuberculosis Association, Jan. 31, 1911, on the subject "Tuberculosis a Curable and Preventable Disease.")

Over twenty-five hundred years ago Hippocrates, the law giver of medicine, announced to the world that all persons suffering from tuberculosis were doomed to die. This statement was accepted by the world, and even to the present time is considered true by a vast majority of the people. Even the medical profession as a body has subscribed to this conclusion. The conclusion is wrong. Hippocrates drew his conclusions from the advanced cases which came under his observation. Incipient and moderately advanced stages of tuberculosis neither he nor his fellows recognized. Therefore, in a manner, Hippocrates was correct in his statements, because even today consumptives in the last stages do not recover. These cases are fatal, have always been fatal, and ever will be.

As a matter of fact, tuberculosis is one of the most curable of all chronic diseases. Even without medical aid, it is a known fact that more persons recover than die, of this malady. When the world and the medical profession are convinced of this fact many thousands of lives will be saved annually that now go to premature graves.

Osler, the law giver of medicine of today, and as great in his day as Hippocrates was in his, declares that, although the ultimate eradication of tuberculosis is problematical, it is within our power to make it an uncommon disease. As it now is, the poor victim is abandoned to his fate, by the physician, or worse still, is given palliative drugs to smooth his downward path, and to keep him in ignorance of his true condition. Fortunately, however, the recent growth of knowledge concerning tuberculosis has stirred the very heart of the world, and is resulting in changing not only the view of the laity, but the profession as well.

The fact that it is known and is being taught, that tuberculosis is infectious, that it spreads from the person that is affected with it to the one that is not affected, that it goes through whole families, that one person may infect a whole neighborhood, is stirring up communities to the extent that they are seized with a morbid fear, and the poor consumptive is treated as a person unclean, and is even subjected to the greatest hardships and humiliations. He can go to any hotel, register and get lodging and meals if he does not label himself a consumptive, even though he be tottering toward the grave; while, on the other hand, if he announces that his case has been diagnosed as tuberculosis, even though he be in the early stages, when he would not communicate it to any one else, he is often refused accommodation, and told that they have no place for persons afflicted with that disease.

This state of unreasonable panic and fear seems to make people lose all sense of propriety in their absurd notions about its contagion. Formerly, there stood out here and there in the history of medicine, men who held out hope for these poor sufferers, but they were shunned by their brethren and finally ridiculed into contempt. Today, there are thousands of good men in the profession who know and teach that tuberculosis is both curable and preventable. Still, in spite of this fact, the medical profession, and the laity as well, are yet in a state of skepticism and disbelief. Thousands upon thousands of lives are sacrificed every year because of this ignorance. What then must be done? What obligations fall upon those of us who declare that this is a preventable and curable disease? The first thing is a campaign of thorough education which will enlighten the public as to the exact nature of the disease, its prevention, its infection, its management, and its cure. How can this education be brought about?

First: It should be taught that it is a curable disease in the early and moderately advanced stages.

Second: That it is a preventable disease, and how to prevent it. The public ought to know that if the consumptive is sanitary, and if all of the sputum is immediately destroyed, that there will be no further spread of the disease; that the patient should be diagnosed early, told exactly the nature of his trouble, and sent to a place where he can be thoroughly instructed in methods of cure, sanitation, and prevention. The curative methods should start in the sanatorium. The sanatorium is the school where the patient can get the necessary instruction and can be taught how to get well. He cannot receive this instruction by going out and listening to a public address on the subject, he has to be put under the care of skilled physicians and attendants, where the little things that are conducive to health are shown him each day, in order that he may learn by observation and practice, by slow degrees, that it is within him to get well. The modern treatment of tuberculosis could be summarized in one word—Education. The patient must be taught how to live, how to keep his body clean, how to destroy his sputum, the necessity of psychological rest, equanimity of body and mind, the value of proper diet, what proper diet is; he should be taught that to gorge himself on twenty raw eggs and a gallon of sweet milk per day is as harmful as any other kind of intemperance, and that the mere fact of getting fat alone is a delusion and a snare. He must be taught the value of right thinking, of sound morals, of proper conduct, and that the possession of substantial character gives the only assurance of permanent recovery from the disease. Finally, he must be taught that the cure is within him. Living out of doors where the air is pure, and sweet and clean, is necessary. All of these things can be carried out in a modern sanatorium. I suggest that a curriculum constituting a regular graded course with proper text books and daily teachings should be a part of the work of the modern sanatorium. This curriculum should be uniform in all state institutions. It should be easily and readily understandable by the plainest and simplest folk, and yet it should be so thorough that the patient will not be allowed to go away from the institution without having had every opportunity for his recovery that the skill of the medical profession of the twentieth century can give. In addition to this, there should be a department where a young man or a young woman who has fallen by the wayside with tuberculosis before finishing his education can be trained for some occupation that will prepare him for a successful career. Right here I wish to say, that I cannot agree with some of the writers on this subject who claim that two or three weeks is sufficient time to instruct these patients how to get well. The patient comes to you exhausted. He must be put to bed and kept absolutely quiet during a period of from ten days to two weeks, during which time his mind as well as his body, should be given absolute rest, and he should be burdened as little as possible during this period. After he has gained some strength and is able to be up he can take his daily lessons without interfering with the progress of his recovery. This will take, in the shortest time, from one to six months.

North Carolina has a home for her consumptives.

In the year 1905 this writer presented the matter to the General Assembly of North Carolina, but he found that there was no public sentiment for such an institution. His efforts along that line were renewed in 1907. There was found no enough opposition to kill a bill calling for an extremely small appropriation. The General Assembly of 1907 appropriated the sum of $15,000 for the construction of such an institution, and in addition the sum of $5,000, annual maintenance was appropriated to be available whenever the institution should be ready to open. A site of 950 acres in the sand hills among the long-leaf pines in upper Cumberland county was secured, and the construction of buildings began. The General Assembly of 1909 appropriated $30,000 to continue the work, and increased the annual maintenance and support from $5,000 to $7,500. The institution now possesses

1,275 acres of land, many hundreds of acres of which is good farm land. The Sanatorium is a modern plant, equipped as well as the funds would admit.

For over thirty years the climate of North Carolina has been noted, especially in certain sections of the State, for the treatment of tuberculosis. We believe that there is no section in the entire world that is superior to the dry, mild, regions in the sand hills of the long-leaf pine belt. Much has been written in regard to climate as a factor in the cure of tuberculosis, some having gone so far as to state it plays no part in the cure of the disease. We deny this. We believe that a dry, well-tempered, pure atmosphere in a moderate altitude is a very important factor in getting results, and that a sandy soil greatly aids in carrying out the out-door treatment.

Montrose is completely isolated. In fact, the Sanatorium proper, while on the Rock Fish and Aberdeen Railroad, is a mile distant from the nearest neighbor's home.

Here the patient is taken away from his accustomed surroundings of tumult and noise and worry, where he can renounce his pleasures, give no thought to his business, and live only for his health. Here he is in contact, mentally, physically, and morally with the things that are conducive to rest and recuperation. The scenery is beautiful and diversified, consisting of woodland of a vast area of a natural park of from twenty to forty miles in all directions, where the beautiful long-leaf pine, the aristocrat of the forest, predominates,

so that the landscape retains its green even in the winter months. The climate avoids the extremes of temperature. It is not a burning furnace in summer;

neither is it an icy desert in winter.

Gentle well-tempered breezes are ever present. It requires almost as many blankets to sleep under in summer as in winter. The number of total and partially sunny days is very great, and although we have been keeping climate records but for a few months, and then in winter, we estimate that over 300 days in the year are partially clear. The establishment is supplied with an abundance of pure fresh water obtained from two deep wells, which wells are on top of the plateau. One of these wells is 225 feet, the other is 245 feet deep. Reports from the State Laboratory of Hygiene show the water to be pure and excellent.

In regard to the out-door treatment,

the patients live practically out of doors

all the time. Pavilions are furnished with windows to guard against storms.

The food furnished the patients is plain, substantial, nutritious, and plentiful.

Fresh vegetables from the garden are furnished during the season. The best proof that the diet is good is the fact that the average gain has been 8 1/2 pounds for an average stay of 50 days per patient. Cleanliness is stressed more than any other factor in the treatment. While rest is as important as anything else, it is much easier to get the patient to rest than it is to make him see at once the absolute importance of perfect sanitation.

The institution has a sewer system of its own in perfect working order; a water power plant which lights the buildings and pumps water; and possesses a fumigating house where the contents of baggage are fumigated both on arrival and departure of the patient.

All laundry is fumigated before it is sent to the laundry. In addition, all bed clothing not washable is fumigated at regular intervals, and floors are mopped daily, during which process a sterilizing solution is used. In the same manner, all bed frames which are metal are cleaned, using the same solution.

This precaution, together with the fact that all the sputum is destroyed in a crematory, and that all table ware is sterilized and thoroughly washed, paper napkins being used and cremated, insures the patient who resides here immunity from further infection.

It might be mentioned that our rules are exceedingly simple, but that we consider them necessary; hence, they are mandatory, and patients are instructed that there must be no infringement.

Patients rest in bed daily, time depending upon the stage of the disease and temperature range. As the temperature disappears the patient gradually takes exercise under careful observation, and this exercise is gradually increased so that the patient when he leaves the institution will be strong instead of weak—he is weakened by absolute rest.

We calculate that this institution, small today, will become large enough to

On all sides yesterday were heard expressions of satisfaction because of the action of the Board of Aldermen in having prepared a bill that will validate the school bond issue of $30,000 voted three years ago. "This action was highly commendable," said a prominent citizen yesterday, "and I hope that it will be truly appreciated by the people of Greensboro. It is to be doubted if fifty citizens know the real conditions in our schools today for I believe if they did they would clamor for new buildings. With the bond issue validated and the money in hand we can put a good building on Lee street that will accommodate the children of that section of the city for several years and erect a building in the northern part of the city so we can do away with the Davie street school and the building known as the old Catholic church at Lindsay street."

TWO THIEVES CAUGHT.

Had Just Committed Second Offense When Invited to Visit the Police Station.

While going down the street yesterday afternoon in front of the store of the Vanstory Clothing Company Chief Neelley passed John Henry Mason and Glenn Swinson, two negroes wanted by the police on the charge of stealing a number of articles from D. Stadium several days ago. He called the negroes and told them he wanted to talk with them regarding another negro wanted by the police. They were reluctant to accompany the officer to the station and he took each by the arm and marched them up the street. Arriving at the police station he informed them that they were wanted on the charge of stealing the clothes from Stadium and the negroes looked like they were on the verge of collapsing.

However, when the officers began to search the negroes, a customary proceeding with every prisoner that is locked up, on unfastening Mason's overcoat a $6.50 pair of brand new pants rolled out on the floor. On investigation it was found that the negroes had just come out of the store of the Vanstory Clothing Company when seen by Chief Neelley, with the pants under the coat.

This was the reason the negroes hesitated to accompany the officer to the station as they had no knowledge that they were suspected of stealing from Stadium.
